KAHO MIZUKI

"If the seal is broken, disaster will befall this world!"

Sakura Kinomoto was just your average 4th grader—loved P.E., hated math. Until...

One day, while looking through her father's library, Sakura found The Clow, an enchanted book designed to hold a set of magical Clow Cards. But when Sakura opened the book, it was empty. Kerberos, the Creature of the Seal, emerged from the cover of the book and told Sakura the cards must be returned to the book. "If the cards aren't in the book, they come to life and do evil!" Talk about disasters!! Kero formed a contract with Sakura making her Cardcaptor. And together with Kero and best friend Tomoyo, Sakura embarked on a mystical journey to capture all the Clow Cards before they wreak chaos and destruction.

You do that.
It's good to make new friends on vacation.

Oh! Tomoyo? It's me, Sakura.
I'm here too!
Kero's with you too?
Yup! It's really pretty up here. I wish you could have come too, Tomoyo.
Yes, it's too bad the chorus has their National competition this week.
Good luck at the competition.
Thanks. I'll call you afterwards.
Well, I'll talk to you later. Goodnight.

You like your father a lot. Don't you, Sakura?

I like rain-bows, you see.
After it rains, you can see a beautiful rainbow from this room's balcony.

NOTES FROM THE CLOW

If you've ever been to an anime or comic book convention, then you've probably seen dozens of fans dressed up as characters from comics, anime, and video games. The Japanese word for this entertaining practice is cosplay (short for "Costume-Play"), and it's growing in popularity throughout the U.S. and Japan. It's not just the fans who like costumes, but anime and manga creators like CLAMP make their heroes excited about dressing up as well! As you know, costumes are an integral part of Cardcaptor Sakura. Sakura's best friend, Tomoyo, always makes her a new outfit for different occasions. But Tomoyo doesn't seem to mind the work, because nothing makes her happier than catching Sakura on camera wearing one of her new costumes! And why not? The women of CLAMP are self-professed otaku (anime/manga hardcore fans), so they celebrate costumes in their manga knowing that that's what fans really like. So what better way to honor your favorite manga series than to dress up as Cardcaptor Sakura yourself?

Here's a few hints on how to make your own Cardcaptor Costume:

1. Use comic book covers and anime episodes as guidelines for color since the manga is all black and white.
2. Start by seeing if there's any part of the outfit that you can simulate by something already in your wardrobe.
3. Stop by a thrift shop and find any pieces of clothing that have the right colors or patterns. You might have to cut it up, so don't waste money on new clothing!
4. If you can't find existing clothes to alter, you might need to go to a fabric store and make your outfit from scratch.
5. Accessorize! A lot of anime/comic shops have imported Cardcaptor accessories, like Clow Books, stuffed Keros and Sakura's staffs. You can also check out online anime stores like AnimeNation.com.
6. Enter a masquerade! Every major anime and comic book convention features a masquerade where fans can show off their costumes and compete for prizes. If you enter, don't just stand there; act out a scene!
7. Have fun!
